RICH FIND IN STORM CLOUD

Fourteen Inches Of High Grade Copper Ore Discovered Yesterday Running Parallel To The Main Pay Streak. At A Point 430 Feet in the Tunnel.

Equally as wonderful as any of the rich strikes reported here within the past few months is that reported last evening from the tunnel being run on the Storm Cloud mine, in the Hassayampa district, where, yesterday afternoon, 14 inches of the highest grade copper ore yet found in that tunnel had been uncovered in a place where it was not suspected that any ore existed.

The new discovery was made 439 feet from the mouth of the tunnel at a depth of about 185 feet from the surface. The new lens of ore, while following the same vein as the other 3 foot streak from which already a good grade of shipping ore has been extracted, is entirely independent of it, and of much higher grade. A drift will be started along the new find with a view of determining its extent and richness.

The Storm Cloud mine is one of a group of 17 claims recently purchased from Fred Williams of this city by the H. J. Beemer Co., the new company being now actively engaged in prosecuting an extensive plan of development work on three of the principal claims of the group.

Situated immediately east of Maple gulch and adjoining the Senator properties, which are being opened by the Senator tunnel, the ground is traversed by the same series of veins being tapped by the great tunnel two of which are now being developed by shafts which have already attained a fair depth and in which there are excellent showings of ore of a good grade.

As far back as the early '70's, on the claim upon which the new strike was yesterday made, much rich ore taken from surface workings was shipped at a profit to smelters in other states besides a large amount of the free milling product was reduced by the arrastra process, which gave large returns.

The section is a well watered and timbered one, and in the heart of one of the richest mining belts in northern Arizona.

James Guiles left on Sunday morning for an extended visit with friends and relatives in San Diego.

Back from Visit.

P. J. Keohane, justice of the peace, returned yesterday from a visit with friends in Jerome. He is an old time resident of the copper city.

F. A. Tittle, Jr., assistant territorial auditor, and secretary of the territorial board of equalization, returned last evening to the capital city after a pleasant two days' visit here with old time friends.

An Extensive Trip.

E. W. Brooks and E. Fleming L'Engle will leave today for an extended visit through the mining camps in the Walker, Hassayampa, Slate creek and Crook Canyon districts. They expect to be absent several days.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

A. Roscow, of Goldsboro, N. C., publisher of the Headlight of that city, and representing a syndicate of seventy-five newspapers published throughout the southern and eastern states, spent Sunday and Monday in Prescott. He is gathering data for a series of articles on the southwest, to be produced later in the papers embraced in the syndicate. He presented credentials from the governor of his state, and from various boards of trades of other states, and in the absence of a board of trade here, was entertained by the Yavapai club, which is filling a large sphere of usefulness in bringing the resources of our county to the notice of the outside world.

While it was impossible to make such a personal examination in so short a time, Mr. Roscow expressed himself as being agreeably surprised at the evidences of progress everywhere about him, and stated that he would have no hesitation about using the literature furnished him by the management of the club, the reliability of which he felt was guaranteed by the high class of the business community of Prescott.

He stated that the joint statehood agitation had aroused a good deal of interest throughout the south, and that he would take great pleasure in correcting some of the very erroneous impressions that prevailed regarding our territory and people.

INDEPENDENCE IN TUCSON GIRL THE LIST OF SHIPPERS BURNED TO DEATH

Another Old Hassayampa Mine Producing Metal Ignited Her Dress

Good Results Lead To Plans For Further Development Dies After Suffering Agony For Nine Hours

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

H. M. Carpenter has returned from the new smelting plant at Humboldt, where he sold a carload of ore from his Independence mine in the Hassayampa district.

He stated to the Journal Miner that the returns received from the shipment was fully equal to his expectations, and expressed himself as well pleased with the treatment received at the hands of the management of the new concern.

The Independence mine is situated about 12 miles south of this city in the immediate vicinity of the Jersey Lily, and about one mile and a half west of the Blue Dick and Dosoris mines, all of which were great producers in the early days of mining in this county.

Under the name of the Gold Leaf, much gold ore of a high grade, some of which sampled as high as $175 to the ton, was taken from its workings, and shipped to smelters in other states. This is the first shipment of any consequence made from the ground by Mr. Carpenter, and it has proven so satisfactory that he is now engaged in making arrangements to commence the development of the property on a more extensive scale than ever.

The group consists of three claims, two of which are located along the same vein, while the third covers a spring in which there is a never failing supply of water at all seasons of the year.

The principal development work consists of two tunnels run along the vein, the upper tunnel being in a distance of 385 feet, while the lower one is now in a distance of about 300 feet. Both openings are connected by an unpraised following an ore shoot from which a large amount of high grade ore has been mined. In the lower tunnel a winze has been sunk at a distance of about 150 feet from its mouth, to a depth of 70 feet from the bottom of which a drift has been run. These works expose a continuous vein of gold ore, which samples on the average width of four feet over $8 to the ton in gold. Part of this pay streak furnishes the high grade ore from which the shipments referred to have been sorted.

The vein runs in a northerly and southerly direction following a fold-south dyke that cuts through a schist formation, the filling of the vein being porphyry.

OFFICERS ELECTED OF METAL EXTRACTION COMPANY.

At the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Anderson Metals Extraction company held in this city on Friday last the following stockholders were elected to manage the company's affairs for the ensuing year: R. C. Powers, H. M. Russell, A. P. Wood, J. C. Martin, of Los Angeles, and M. J. Scanlan of McCabe.

At a meeting of the directors held immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting, the following were selected as the officers of the corporation: R. C. Powers, president; M. J. Scanlan, vice-president; J. C. Martin, secretary, and A. P. Wood, treasurer.

The process has been demonstrated to be a success beyond any doubt, and the financial affairs of the company were found to be in excellent condition.

SUPERVISORS TO CONFER.

The territorial auditor has issued an invitation to all members of the boards of supervisors of the various counties in the territory to meet at his office with the territorial board of equalization on July 29 for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the assessment of different classes of property throughout the territory.

Nobody ever lived long enough for his red hair to turn white.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

After lingering nine hours, Kathryn O'Neill, a domestic employed at the residence of E. C. Pierce, of 408 South Stone avenue, who was terribly burned by a coal oil explosion, passed away yesterday afternoon after suffering untold agonies. The stricken girl was taken to the hospital, but the efforts of the physicians were of no avail. Dr. Whitmore, who came to the rescue of the deceased, was burned about the arms and hands.

According to Mrs. Pierce, she had often warned the girl against using coal oil to coax the fire, but yesterday morning the domestic, heedless of the admonition, poured some oil into the stove. Immediately there was a blinding flash, and then the girl ran from the kitchen, covered from head to foot with the blazing fluid. She dashed out into the yard, where Dr. C. Whitmore came to her aid. He endeavored to put out the flames with his bare hands, but this method being of no avail, he made a rush for the garden hose. At this juncture Thomas Borton arrived on the scene. Borton off his coat and wrapped it about the burning girl, smothering the flames.

With the assistance of A. M. Franklin, Pierce put out the fire in the house and when the fire department arrived there was no need for them. The body of the deceased girl is in Oakland, Cal. At present the remains are at Reilly's undertaking parlors, awaiting instructions from the west. The dead girl has a brother who is working in the city. The injuries of Dr. Whitmore were attended to by Dr. Schrader. The hands of the doctor were severely burned, and he will not be able to use them for several days.—Tucson Citizen.

ROBINSON PUT UP $1,000 AS CASH BAIL.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

"Times livened up a little in Kingman this week," says "Our Miserable Wealth," when a sweet singer, Mamoiselle Carroll and Will Robinson, sometimes called Bill, were arraigned before court commissioner Blakey, charged with malfeasance in the Edmunds Act. The judge, who is very strict with anyone tampering with the act, set their bail among the high grade figures, but as he looked on one of the comely pair, his sternness melted away like a snow bank under the glare of an Arizona sun, until $1,000 cash bond was accepted, and the two will have a free roll until the merits of the case are looked into later by the court.

Immediately after his arrest upon the grave charge, Will Robinson telegraphed to attorney Reese M. Ling of this city in an effort to engage him for his defense. Attorney Ling, after giving the matter some consideration, refused to appear in the case.

Later, and after the refusal of Attorney Ling to appear for him, Robinson engaged Attorney Henry M. Nisbet of Los Angeles, who recently figured in the United States court here in the defense of James Harvey King, who was accused of a mock marriage with Miss Nellie Weis of San Bernardino and convicted of fornication after a sensational trial. Attorney Leroy Anderson, who was associated with Attorney Nisbet in the King case, has also been approached to appear for the defense of Robinson, and has the matter under consideration, saying that he is not inclined to become associated in the defense of a case of such an odious character.

There is little doubt but that Robinson and his paramour will be made to suffer the extreme penalty of the law. Only a jury of moral degenerates could fail to convict the shameless pair.

Every man would be a prohibitionist if there was as much fun in it as being the other kind.
